President General of D. A. R. Takes Strong Stand on Matter at Convention.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 15.—Mrs. Livingston Rowe Schuyler, president general, delivered her report to the daughters of the Confederacy in convention here today. Reports also were heard from national officers and several committees. Mrs. Schuyler, who is president of the D. A. R. in the city, said that the D. A. R. is organized since the last convention. In urging completion of the Jefferson Davis Memorial at Fairview, Ky., the president general said, "It rests with us to see that the D. A. R. receives proper recognition, otherwise the history of the south will never be correctly told. It is hoped that the life and letters of Jefferson Davis now being published will establish him in his rightful place in the world."

Great progress has been made on the Jefferson Davis highway, she reported. This project was termed "the greatest memorial any organization has ever built."

Mrs. Schuyler recommended that a short and concise definition of the term "Daughters of the States" be adopted and reprinted annually among the notices of convention minutes in order that the Civil War term may fall into disuse. The president general took a firm stand in the matter of carrying out the will of a former convention in remodeling the Lee Memorial chapel at Lexington, Va., in the face of strong opposition to the plan by Mary Carter Lee, chapter, Lexington. The Lexington chapter, she said, is "a body of women with no connection with the high purporting in the world. Unless this convention instructs differently," she said, "I shall be guided in my conduct by action already taken." It was stated that the chapel is a pile of trash on Colquhoun street in the vicinity of Bailey's store being found to be on fire.

Realty Shark Law In Tennessee Wins

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 14.—In upholding the creation of the Tennessee Legislature two years ago of a State Real Estate Commission to examine and license real estate dealers, the United States Supreme court today approved an enactment designed to eliminate the evils of the business and keep unscrupulous persons out of it.

Under this "License shall be granted only to persons who are trustworthy and bear a good reputation for honesty and fair dealings and are competent to transact the business of a real estate broker or salesman in such a manner as to safeguard the interests of the public, and only after satisfactory proof thereof has been presented."

The term estate dealers is constructed to include all who engage in even one act of buying, selling or renting for another, except in cases of receiving bids and the like.

The last licenses real estate brokers and salesmen and prohibits "any real estate salesman to accept a commission or valuable consideration except from his employer."

The act stipulates conditions which will be cause for refusal and revocation of licenses and provides a fine of $25 to $100 for its violation.

The law was immediately attacked by one group of real estate dealers in Memphis.

He will preach again Thursday and Friday at the same hour. Opening at 9 o'clock with the Communion service the first business session adjourned at 1 o'clock for lunch at the church after a busy morning session selected. No eleven-hour development has lessened the uncertainty of the result. The few prophets who ventured forecasts the strings to their predictions.

Rev. R. H. Willis was reelected secretary and appointed his assistant secretary. The quadrennial boards and conference committees were elected. Reports were heard from the presiding sides of nine districts all showing progress in building and addition of members. In spite of the failure of crop in the eastern districts the financial reports were good. The names of supernumeraries and supernumeraries were called, their characters passed and their reports heard. Six applicants were admitted on trial. A short time was taken at this first session by Dr. J. D. Ellis of the church extension board to present this work. A number of visiting ministers from other conference and other churches sided with dispatch and ease introducing now and then some word of advice or suggestions to relieve the business routine.

The full extent of the disaster which centered on Alacama and Coquimbo provinces became more fully known today with the reopening of the wire systems with the north. In these two provinces the victims numbered 1500 so far as is known, but it is expected the number of dead will be increased as communications are resumed with small villages in the interior whose fate at present is unknown. Despatches from there say martial law has been declared at Valparaiso and Copiapo, owing to the looting which bandits have perpetrated on the population. This damage is believed to be due to prisoners who escaped jails.

The ministerial resignations filed last night were preceded by the decision of the United Socialists not to take part in a coalition ministry, which included members of the Peoples Party. But the friends of Wirth were not oblivious of the feeling that he had outlived usefulness and now become a victim of a policy of indecision and inactivity which found its culmination in the government's failure to make an arrangement with the Allied Reparation Commission its recent visit to Berlin.

Fine Imposed And Jail Term Which Court Suspends

Mrs. Felton Will Not Hold Seat In U. S. Senate

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Mrs. W. H. Felton, Georgia's woman senator, lost her title on the date of the election of her successor and she will not be entitled to sit with the United States senate when it convenes next Monday. The opinion expressed here today by Governor Harwick, of Georgia, by whom she was appointed, "I don't want to hurt Mrs. Felton's feelings," said the governor, "and I hesitate to offer her any advice until she asks me for it. But I will say that, according to the law of the nation and of the state of Georgia, she hasn't the shadow of a title to a seat in the senate."

Whether her successor, Walter F. George, is declared officially elected, whether he qualifies and is sworn before the senate convenes Monday is beside the question.

"Mrs. Felton ceased to hold the title on the day of the election, according to the law, and there is no way of getting around it."

$250 Fine Is Assessed, Jury Recommending Mercy for Officer Who Shot E. A. Benton.

After deliberating for two hours this morning the jury which tried O. T. Cook, was asked to recommend a verdict finding him guilty of a simple assault, imposing a fine of $250 and a jail term of thirty days. The jury in its verdict recommended mercy in connection with the jail term and Judge D. Price Withers took cognizance of this and accordingly suspended the jail term. He told Cook that he thought he did not have a proper conception of his duties as a police officer and had apparently not been properly instructed as to his duties. The fine was paid by the mayor and the chief of police after the shooting and wounding of Benton in June. It remains now for the police commission to reach some decision relative to his restoration to duty or permanent disbarment. Chief of Police Bell who was asked the question this morning after the trial had ended declared that it would be for the commission to act and not for him to take any action.

The jury remained deliberating for an hour last night and at about half past seven o'clock it announced that it could not agree. Judge Withers then discharged the jury until this morning at half past nine o'clock.

The case heard yesterday developed precisely along the lines followed at the preliminary hearing. Cook's defense was that he thought he was dealing with a car thief and shot to stop the car. The state maintained that Cook, though an officer, had no right to shoot at the car under the circumstances. A civil action for damages is pending against Cook.

Sisters Draw 15 Years For Crime

Fred Hoback To Get New Trial

Fred S. Hoback, federal narcotic inspector who was convicted in Roanoke after a sensational trial nearly two years ago, has been granted a new trial by the Virginia Court of Appeals. Hoback has attended the federal court here for years and is well known in this city by reason of such visits. The following article from Richmond bears upon his case:

Holding improper instructions to the jury, the United States Circuit Court of Appeals today reversed the judgment of Judge Henry C. McDowell, in the United States District court at Roanoke, and ordered a new trial in the case of F. S. Hoback, former federal narcotic agent, who was sentenced to three years in prison for the conversion of government property of private use, and for transporting and selling liquor.

Judge Edmund Waddill, Jr., of Richmond, wrote the opinion of the appellate court, and was concurred in by Judge D. Lawrence Grover, of the United States district court, who heard the argument. Circuit Judge C. A. Woods dissented and held that the lower court should be affirmed.

Ruby Chalk and Edna Saunders Plead Guilty to Killing William Davis.

An unusual sight was presented in the Roanoke court this morning when two sisters, aged 17 and 18, stood up and pleaded guilty to murder. Each was sentenced immediately by Judge Price Withers to fifteen years in the penitentiary, this penalty being agreed upon by the counsel for the colored women and the commonwealth's attorney. The two girls, Edna Saunders and Ruby Chalk killed William "Joek" Davis in a dance hall on Newton street on September 5th, both pleading a part in the murder. Davis was shot in the chest with a knife. He died so. Ruby Chalk dropped her partner, drew a pistol and shot Davis who staggered down the steps and fell dead eighty feet from the door. It is then said that both women, who had pursued him, fell upon him with fury and struck him several times.

The case was to have been heard today but the girls preferred to accept the fifteen-year term rather than go to trial on the issue.

1,009 Cars Fast in Mud as Rain Deluges Iowa

IOWA CITY, Ia., Nov. 15.—One thousand automobiles, which brought spectators to the Iowa-Minnesota game Saturday, still were stranded today in West Liberty, Cedar Rapids and Iowa City, as some were stuck in bams or left along roads because of rains which made much of the highways. More rain is forecast.

Many of the cars, which bore license tags from five states, were mired all night and women and children had to remain in bams and go without food from Saturday noon until Sunday morning. Cars were mired along one road for fourteen miles.

Farmers took horses to haul automobiles to shelter, charging $2 to $10.

Says His Prescription Has Powerful Influence

Over Rheumatism

Mr. James H. Allen, of Rochester, N. Y., suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

His discovery, which he called ALLENRUH to others who took it with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. He has therefore instructed McCall's Drug Store and druggists everywhere to dispense Allenruh with the understanding that if the first bottle does not show the way to complete recovery he will gladly refund your money without comment.—adv.

SHALL WE LIFT THE BAN ON DRINK?

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Women are in the front ranks in the battle of prohibition. The November elections have focused attention upon the efforts to modify the Volstead act—and women leaders of forces for and against prohibition have come to grips over counter-claims of the electors' effect upon the beer and wine movement.

Here is a woman's discussion of both sides of the controversy. Mrs. Frank A. Vanderlip, wife of the financier, and one of the outstanding figures in the League of Women Voters, argues for prohibition under the Volstead act.

And Miss Alice Carpenter, head of the women's division of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, speaks for temperance rather than prohibition under a new law that would legalize beers and light wines.

By ALICE CARPENTER
Director, Women's Committee, Association Against the Prohibition Amendment.

All serious-minded people in this country today are standing for the same thing—to keep out the saloon and to reduce drunkenness to a minimum.

There are two methods by which this can be attempted. One is by a prohibition law. The other is by a temperance law. The result of three conditions—the saloon, which tempted men when they did not want to drink; the treating system, which urged a man to drink more than he had had enough; and the free access to highly intoxicating liquors, which was a constant source of danger to men too weak to resist the temptation.

No solution of the problem of drunkenness can be effective unless it meets these three conditions.

Bootlegging Rife.

The prohibition law has eliminated the open saloon. But it has brought bootlegging with respectable citizens organizing to break the law through the bootleggers. It has brought home brew, with ingredients of a kind which the New York health commissioner says will demand a high death toll within three or four years.

It has stimulated in all our people, young and old alike, a defiance and contempt of law which is reflected not only in the breaking of the prohibition law, but in almost every other phase of criminal law in the nation.

Prohibition has only substituted, as far as the saloon is concerned, one great evil for another. It has checked the treating system only so far as it has made it more expensive, and it is unnecessary for me to emphasize that access to highly intoxicating liquors is as free today as before prohibition, to those who have the price.

After a three-year test the prohibition law has failed to eliminate any of the causes for drunkenness, and the outlook in the future is that it will become more powerless to deal effectively with this difficult problem. Our association proposes a temperance law, bringing wise, sane and moderate temperance—a law which, like the Canadian and Swedish systems, will prevent the return of the saloon. It would give us beers and light wines, and allow states to regulate the traffic.

By MRS. FRANK A. VANDERLIP
Chairman, New York State League of Women Voters.

The election returns do not mean that prohibition is discredited. Liberalism versus reaction was the real election verdict. The tariff issue influenced far more voters in New York than prohibition.

Few people honestly believe the eighteenth amendment ever will be removed from the constitution. Congress might modify the Volstead enforcement act by raising the percentage of alcohol. Volstead didn't invent the one-tenth of one per cent. definition of intoxicating liquor; the excise department did. Congress must look up for that detail if it changes the Volstead act.

Enlightened self-interest impelled America into national prohibition. Muddled brains don't pay, and alcohol means muddled brains. None of us are strong or wise enough to risk subtracting from our mental totals by drinking.

Times Better, Safer.
Workmen and employers are more prosperous than they were before prohibition. Trains, trolleys and automobiles are safer driven by sober men. So are all businesses, government and homes.

Personal liberties are no more attacked by prohibition than by quarantine laws.

Society is better off generally under prohibition. Now only those rich enough to pay the price are muddling their brains with alcohol and there are comparatively few of them compared with the majority of people who are blessed with moderate means and consequent sobriety.

Women Are Dry.

If there were an honest referendum among women, prohibition would carry with a large majority.

Drinking people are noisier than sober ones and they are self-indulgent. The reason we hear so much from them now is that they have difficulty in getting what they want.

America will be without competition in economic development if we can enforce prohibition for 10 years. Drinking countries can't compete with a soberly industrious America, even in merchant marine.

Neither this year's election nor any other will have any great influence in changing the Volstead law, which is merely a statement of the conviction of the majority of the people in the United States.

Chicago Boasts Largest Photo Ever Produced

(By The Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—A photograph ninety-six feet long and ten feet high, one of the largest ever made, has been completed by Dr. Frank M. Woodruff, curator of the Chicago Academy of Sciences, in Lincoln Park.

It shows a panorama of the Lake Michigan shore at Miller Beach, near Gary, Ind., the famous Indiana sand dunes, the sluggish Grand Calumet river, and the swamps and swale stretching around the eastern and southeastern environs of Chicago. The photograph is tinted in natural colors.

The picture is one of four immense panorama photographs which when all are complete, will form the background of exhibits showing the birds, animals, reptiles, trees and flowers common now or in earlier days in the Chicago region.

A second picture, 72 feet long and ten feet high, has been completed, and two more, one 96 and the other 72 feet long, are to be made.

When complete the series will show typical bits of scenery from the sand dune region, through the swamps to the Calumet Sag, north through the prairies, and back to the lake some 20 miles above the north shore suburbs. The photographs mark the advent of a new art, and have displaced oil paintings costing thousands of dollars.

A picture 92 feet long can be produced, according to Dr. Woodruff, for less than $100, and the tinting in transparent oils costs but a small amount additional, as compared with the heavy cost of oil paintings.

Any student who understands color can do the tinting, he says, as the photograph itself furnishes the highlights and shadows.

Photographic backgrounds, according to government ornithologists who recently inspected the pictures during the convention here of the American Ornithologists Union, mark a milestone in museum displays. Unlike the oil paintings formerly used, they are exact in every detail, and the perspective is much better. The improved perspective blends the background into the foreground exhibit, and carries out the illusion of great space.

Birds, animals, trees of special shape or anything else can be added to the background. Dr. Woodruff found, by enlarging their photographs to the right size, cutting out the picture, tinting it, and sticking it on with a pin. Birds in flight, of the same species shown among the stuffed foreground exhibits, are given the appearance of actual motion through space because the pin suspends them in front of the background, instead of their being a painted part of it.

In making the immense photographs, Dr. Woodruff, who took all the original pictures himself, had to develop new methods and special equipment. The photographs are painted in 10 to 11 foot sections, each section being the enlargement of one eight by ten negative. Developing papers strips eleven feet long and forty inches wide is used, three strips being mounted on the printing board at a time. To keep all parts of such a large printing board in focus it was necessary to build it in a curve corresponding to an arc of the circle of which the enlarging camera is the center.

To develop the huge prints an immense tray is mounted on wooden horses and four extra tall men drag the paper back and forth while a boy wearing rubber boots climbs in to the developer armed with a saw mounted on a broomstick handle and assists their efforts.

In addition to the four big pictures—Dr. Woodruff has completed 110 photographs ten feet high and five feet wide for smaller exhibit cases.

WEARS $1000 ENGAGEMENT RING BUT WEDDING TOKEN ABSENT

TRENTON, Nov. 14.—Sue of Miss Jennie Lanza, a former Trenton teacher, to recover $20,000 former wholesale liquor dealer, for breach of promise to marry, opened in Mercer Court this morning in the presence of a crowd that filled the room to overflowing.

Salamanca is one of the best known Italian residents of Trenton and came especially into prominence about two years ago when his brother, Joe, was killed by booze bandits near Jockey Hill while the two were escorting a truckload of whisky said to have been consigned to the holder of a Government permit in Newark.

Miss Lanza charges that Salamanca proposed marriage to her early in June, 1919, and was accepted. The promise is said to have been repeated on several occasions and on September 19, 1921, according to the fair one, Salamanca was asked to fulfill his pledge and refused.

A $1000 diamond ring, said to have been the gift of the defendant, Salamanca admits the promise of marriage, but declares the wedding was opposed by the girl's father.

Suits was brought by Miss Lanza on two counts, $25,000 being asked on each. Damages sought include $1000 expended for clothing in anticipation of the wedding, $5000 lost in salary as a school teacher, and the remainder for humiliation among her friends.

PAYS TO SEE HER CHILDREN
NORRISTOWN, Pa., Nov. 14.—Adelle Lockton, of Philadelphia, charged her husband, Allen Lockton, of Norristown, with non-support. At the hearing before Magistrate Clark here, it developed that Lockton has been boarding the children in the country near here, that he has been collecting a toll of $10 every two weeks from his wife for the privilege of seeing the children. She would come out from the city every fortnight, meet her husband and then, and only then, would he permit her to see the children. He didn't contribute a cent toward his wife's support. He was held for court.

Skin Ablaze with Eczema
Constant Itching Almost Unbearable!

We know there is one thing that stops eczema, and that is more red-blooded cells. S. S. S. builds them by the million. You can increase your red-blood cells to the point where it is practically impossible for eczema to exist. We know that as blood-cells increase in number, blood impurities vanish! We also know that night follows day. Both are facts. If you have eczema, sufferer, ever actually taken advantage of this wonderful fact? Thousands just like you have never thought about it. Skin eruptions cease! Eczema begins to roll in! Blood cells are the fighting giants of nature! S. S. S. builds them by the million! It has been doing it since 1856! S. S. S. is one of the greatest blood-cell builders, blood-purifiers and body-builders known to us mortals! When you put these facts together—then to continue to have eczema and skin eruptions looks more like a sin than a disease. Mrs. Arthur N. Smith, Pearl St., Newark, N.J., writes:

"My little girl had a very bad case of eczema. She began taking S. S. S. and is well now. I thank you very much. I tell my friends what a good medicine it is. I cannot tell too much about it, for I know it is O. K."
Here is your opportunity. S. S. S. contains only vegetable medicinal ingredients. Because S. S. S. builds red-blood cells, it routes rheumatism, builds firm flesh, fills out hollow cheeks, beautifies the complexion, builds you up when you are run-down. S. S. S. is sold at drug stores in two sizes. The larger size bottle is the more economical.

S.S.S. makes you feel like yourself again

THANKS
We wish to thank the thousands of friends who visited us in our new store Tuesday (our opening day) for their many manifestations of interest and expressions of good wishes and encouragement. We regret being unable to extend to each one a hand of welcome and expressing our appreciation in person but of course such was utterly impossible in so large a crowd.

We are sorry that many who desired to make purchases could not get served, but hardly feel that an apology is necessary in this instance on our part for we believe that every one saw that we did all that was humanly possible to take care of everybody.

We acknowledge, with pride, our indebtedness to the ladies of Circle E. Rector's Aid Society, Episcopal Church, who acted as hostesses and to the charming young ladies who served. It would have been quite impossible to have rendered the service we did without them.

PATTERSON DRUG CO.
MASONIC TEMPLE, DANVILLE, VA.

FEDERAL ROAD COMPLETED TO NEAR PELHAM

REIDSVILLE, N. C., Nov. 14.—Federal aid highway No. 70, the hard-surfaced road now under construction from Danville via Reidsville to Greensboro, is completed from Danville to a point about one mile south of Pelham. It is a well graded and substantially constructed concrete road, as smooth as a billiard table. Motorists can now use the new road, but there is a pile gap between the end of the new road and the Ruffin toll road which is pretty rough going for automobiles. Hundreds of cars were spinning along the new highway Sunday. The hard-surfaced road has been completed from the court courthouse at Wentworth to the home for the Aged and infirmed and another week, if the weather is favorable, will see it finished to Greensboro. The authorities are arranging a detour to the left, after passing the county home, running on to the concrete road below the new Wentworth school building and then into the town; in order to accommodate the travel during court week, commencing November 20.

The Mayfield top soil road will be a shorter detour from Reidsville to Danville than the present detour via Gatewood, as soon as the concrete bridge across Wolf Island Creek is completed. A few motorists use that route now, but the fording of the creek is rather difficult for automobiles.

LIGHT HOUSE KEEPER DYING, 3 OTHERS ILL

CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. I., Nov. 14.—Summoned to the Magdalen Islands by distress signals from the darkened lighthouse on Lonely Bird Rock, the Canadian cruiser Margaret today found one of the keepers dying, three others dangerously ill and the fifth member of the crew, a woman, near exhaustion from her efforts to nurse the sick and keep the light burning.

When news that the light had failed reached here, the Margaret was ordered to the spot at full speed to restore the light and fog horn signals on the rock, which lies directly in the route for the St. Lawrence River ports and Sydney.

Driving all night through a heavy storm, the cruiser reached the island at four a. m. There they found the keeper, his brother, a mate, assistant and his aged mother-in-law, near death. Mrs. Bourke, recent bride of the assistant keeper, was attending them. All five were placed aboard the cruiser which headed for Georgetown, where the sick were found there, came on to Charlottetown. Recovery of the other members of the crew is considered doubtful.

It was believed here that the crew was suffering from ptomaine poisoning.

PHILIPPINES STILL ARE SUPERSTITIOUS

MANILA, P. I., Nov. 14.—The "herb doctor" and common quack flourishes abundantly in the Philippines, largely because the people are not free from the ancient superstitions of their native religion, in which sorcerers conjure the kinder gods and implore mercy for the sick in weird incantations and mystic dances at the bedside of their patients.
But Donato Bascos, a poor farmer, recently played more than even with his "herb doctor." He became convinced that the man was a fake and invited him to sleep in the house overnight. When the doctor had dropped off to sleep, Donato crawled from his bed and boiled him to death. This is the latest report of the constabulary, but it is likely that there was neighborhood gossip that the "doctor" was a "maniculator" or one in league with the devil. Such killings are usually traced to such beliefs.
Even in Manila, thriving metropolis of the Philippines, old notions hang on tenaciously. The man, a licensed doctor, whom it is proposed by the Quezon party to have governor-General Wood appoint as mayor of the city, once submitted a formal memorial to ex-President Taft (when he was governor-general) in which the doctor said that Chinese were different and lower than other human beings. They even had different diseases and would not respond to the common medical remedies.

TWELVE PLATES HOLD THE TRUTH

HONOLULU, T. H., Nov. 14.—(The Associated Press.)—Twelve photographic plates, carefully marked and guarded, which passed through here today bound for San Francisco from Sydney, Australia, are believed to hold the secret of whether Einstein is right or wrong. The plates are the results of photographs, taken at Wollat, Australia, by Professor W. W. Campbell of Lick Observatory, California, and his assistants.

Professor Campbell said that during the exposure of the plates indicating that the exposures had successfully registered the heavenly panorama, it stood during the darkening of the sun September 21, last, but that microscopic measurements would have to be made before any announcement of proof or disproof of Einstein's theory of the bending of star rays in their passage to the earth.

LOCAL CLUBS BATTLE PARIS SKIRT

While independent women and local organizations throughout the nation are battling return of long skirts, to date there has been no national pro-skirt, "sworn-to-the-death" organization.
But such an organization will be a reality in the near future, according to predictions of various of the local leaders in all parts of the nation, gathered for The Bee in a countrywide survey made today by NEA Service.

It needs but a feminine Moses to lead us out of the bondage of Paris designers, according to one proponent of the short skirt. "And such a woman will arise soon to proclaim a new freedom for American women—the freedom of dress."

Both flappers and club women already are starting national movements against what they term "commercial invasion of American women's rights to comfort."
Kansas City clubwomen are just about to start a national movement, while the New York Federation of Women's Clubs has already issued a call to American women to wear their dresses seven inches from the ground. The flappers, by referendum vote, have agreed to ignore the long skirts. "They'll get no flapper 'mad money' for them," says Miss Marion Mars, head of the Chicago branch. "Between girms and criticism, we'll take the latter. Dress should be comfortable and economical. Rolled socks, low heels, bobbed hair, knickers and short skirts are here to stay. Long skirts are gone with the corset."

Down in Kansas City, Mrs. Henry N. Ess, nationally prominent in club work, has resulted in organization of the "No Longer Skirt Club." This group, the Parisian dictates, and seeks to have skirts 10 inches from the ground. A move to carry the work to other cities is being considered by Mrs. Eva Peck, president of the club.

In Los Angeles, short skirt proponents are rallying around Dr. Marion Tracie Whiting, president of the fashionable South Side Ethel Club, and Mrs. Frances Noel, chairman of the women's committee of the California Federation of Labor.

It is high time that American women, with their vaunted emancipation, break away from commercialized styles in clothes which may prove inimical to both health and comfort," says Mrs. Noel.

There is another big factor in American life that even ahead of organization, is dealing with the long skirt "evil." That is the big army of women in business—the millions of feminine stenographers, clerks, secretaries, nurses and others who have found the short skirted, comfortable dress a big factor in their efficiency. Women refuse to wear the longer clothes at their work.

"Girls in their teens shouldn't wear skirts, to the ground any more than grandmothers should wear short, undignified skirts," declares Mrs. Ess. "No woman in an office, a store or in public life can do efficient work in one of these new long-draped skirts. It is not that we are behind the times by protesting. We simply are not slaves of fashion."

Throughout the country, prominent women are rallying to the support of the short skirt.
Rev. John Thompson, pastor of Chicago's First Methodist church, noted as a religious leader, shares this view.

"Constant changes in women's dress are little less than insane," declares the pastor. "The new long skirt vogue represents a wily way of getting money. The short skirt was the best dress ever devised for women."

In Flint, Mich., resentment against

nothing done to remove the Smyrna debris

SMYRNA, Nov. 14.—(By The Associated Press.)—Although more than eight weeks have elapsed since the great fire which swept Smyrna, little effort has been made to remove the debris or begin work of reconstruction.

The civil governor Abdul Khalik Bey, is making determined bids for aid from the Ankara government but has met with slight encouragement thus far.

Occasionally one of the shattered building collapses blocking a street, but no attempt is made to clear the wreckage. The only going concern in the city is a horse car line running along the quay. Americans here say the Turks will take fifty years to restore the town.

The city's every day life is at a complete standstill. Once the focus for all the rich trade from Asia Minor, Smyrna is now a chaotic mass of tottering walls. The food shortage is causing prices to soar, and unless the stocks are replenished from America or Europe, famine seems inevitable.

Americans and other foreigners are subjected to long delays in obtaining permission to enter or leave city. All who leave are asked if they intend to return, and if they answer in the negative they are sometimes obliged to wait a week or more for permission to go.

The Turks show a more friendly attitude toward the Americans, who are mostly tobacco company men, than toward other foreigners, perhaps because they bring money into the city.

Police Chief Zia Bey has a force of 1,500 men patrolling the city, with extra guards at the water front to scrutinize incoming and outgoing ships. The principal object of this vigilance is believed to be the apprehension of Greeks and Armenians who fled during the reign of terror and who are now returning for their hidden treasures.

An Armenian merchant, formerly prominent here, was caught this week while digging up his family jewels from the garden behind the ruins of his home. The police confiscated the valuables and imprisoned the merchant.

RE-OPENING OF JOHNSON'S OLD "TAYLOR" SHOP

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—President Harding was invited by a delegation from Greenville, Tenn., today to attend ceremonies to be held there in connection with the re-opening of the Old Taylor Shop of Andrew Johnson.

The dedication was presided over by the President, by Representative Bruce of Tennessee, and included Dr. C. O. Gray, President of Tusculum College, Charles Bewley, postmaster at Greenville and J. W. Howard, of Greenville. The president indicated he would be glad to accept the invitation but could not give a definite answer at this time on account of the illness of Mrs. Harding and the reassembling of Congress.

No date for the celebration has yet been fixed and members of the delegations said it might be postponed until next spring if it were possible for the President to visit Greenville at that time.

VENZЕLOS HOPES WELL PAY GREECE

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Eleutherios Venizelos, ex-Premier of Greece and head of the Greek delegation which will attend the Near East Peace Conference at Lausanne, discussed today the internal affairs of Greece in the first long interview he has given for several months, and also canvassed various phases of the Near East situation as it appears to Greek eyes.

"The rule of King Constantine," he said, "shook the Greek monarchy to the roots, but if a 40 per cent. minority, we will say, wish to continue the royal institution, I imagine that a majority of the Greeks would consent to carry on the present system, provided the King's power was nullified."

The aged statesman apparently has recovered from the severe moral shock he suffered recently because of the Greek defeat in Asia Minor. He seems to be in better health and speaks vigorously. At the present time he is totally absorbed in making arrangements for the peace conference, and also in caring for a million and a half Greek refugees.

"I am absolutely divorced for ever from Greek internal politics," he continued, "and if elected to Parliament I will resign immediately. If the Greek people want a republic, they probably will show it in the coming elections, for the majority will indicate its will. If the monarchy is of no further use to them, they will be able to signify that fact, and if there is a strong minority desiring to continue the present regime, no doubt the majority will consent, with the proviso that I have mentioned. As a matter of fact, there is little difference between a democratic monarchy where the King is rendered powerless by the Constitution, and a republic. I favor England is just as democratic politically, though possibly not socially, as the United States."

Lots of Eggs, All Winter!
Flock of 46 Hens Laid 39 Eggs a Day. Costs Nothing to Try.

"Have been using Don Sung since Jan. 1st. My 46 hens are very healthy, and the extreme cold weather doesn't seem to affect the egg production at all. Last week they averaged 39 eggs a day. My pure-blooded flock is the center of attraction in this neighborhood."—Alice M. Diefenderfer, 199 So. 2nd St., Hughesville, Pa.

If you think your hens can't lay as well, right through the winter months, you're making an expensive mistake. A little Don Sung in their feed costs but a trifle and shows an amazing difference in the egg record. Let us, at our risk, start your hens laying right now. Here's our offer:

Give Don Sung to 15 hens. Then watch results for 30 days. If it doesn't pay for itself and pay money will be promptly refunded.

Don Sung (Chinese for egg laying) sets directly on the egg-laying organs, and is beneficial in every way. It makes hens healthy and happy. They scratch and dig. Pullets develop earlier. The whole flock lays egg after egg, season in, any weather, when eggs are scarce and big.

Can you afford to ignore the wonderful reports you are hearing from Don Sung users everywhere? Why not let us show you the same results, with your own flock? Don Sung is no trouble to use. It costs nothing to try. All we ask is a chance to prove our claims, entirely at our risk. Get Don Sung from your local dealer, or send for a good profit besides, tell us and your money will be promptly refunded.

MAINTAIN THE MUNICIPAL HALL.

Utilization of the Municipal Hall as a health centre and its elimination as a recreational auditorium will not be undertaken, we believe, until the council has fully weighed the matter and discussed the advisability of securing outside quarters where a health centre
could be organized and maintained.

While it is true that the health department has outgrown its present quarters in the seat of city government and is actually hampered at the present time by the cramped condition complained of, it is doubtful if the conversion of the municipal auditorium into health offices will strike a popular note—not at any rate, until some other quarters have been secured for these organizations who now have the privilege of using the hall.

We are inclined to approve the attitude of Councilman W. R. Harrison in the matter, who has already the conversion of the hall for health quarters and his suggestion that the council secure an independent building at some convenient place from which the community's health work can be carried on. The Municipal Hall, dedicated as it appears serves a very distinct purpose in the city at the present time. It is a basketball court for school children, it is headquarters for the local library band, and it is the meeting place of conventual societies and political organizations and is, in fact, the only public hall Danville has at the present time.

The health office needs to be quartered in a separate building easily accessible. The subdivision of the floor space into a series of offices will not meet the need of the department even though the hall served no useful purpose as a recreational centre.

PLEASANT GAP, Nov. 15.—(Grappvine Wireless)—A man named Dollar is bringing suit for a divorce from Mrs. Dollar on the grounds of desertion, etc.
as alleged in the bill of particulars. The man has been in the city for some time, according to latest reports. This is a sad case, yet there are hundreds of such cases in the city. The lady must have been proud when she got her Dollar in the first place,
although she was automatically reduced to Half-Dollar and probably had trouble getting the small change she needed. When he made her a Dollar she recklessly threw it away, but she may have found it somewhere or plugged and patched it up; maybe it was a funny old paper Dollar
which she expected a bright,
new shiny look with milled
edges. When the Head riters got hold of this story the coin
will be spun around merrily possibilities are unlimited. Finest case:
"LOST—HALF A DOLLAR."
"ONLY ONE DOLLAR LEFT."
"DOLLARS FOR APART."
"WHAT A DOLLAR WILL DO."
"DOLLARS DOLLING OVER."
"UNFRIENDLY DOLLARS."
"LEFT ONLY A DOLLAR."
"THREW AWAY A DOLLAR."
"LOST INTEREST ON A DOLLAR."
"CHANGE FOR A DOLLAR."
"DOLLARS TURNED LOOSE."

Any way, dollars have caused a lot of trouble in this old world, maybe because they do not always ring true
or, are rolled in the wrong direction.
Still, chasing dollars will continue to be a popular sport.

Triumphs of M. Jonquelle

by MELVILLE DAVISSON, POST
©1932 NEA Service, Inc.

THE MOTTLED BUTTERFLY

Begin Here Today

Seated in the opera box of the MARQUIS DE CHANTELLE, impoverished husband of a wealthy American woman.

M. JONQUELLE, greatest detective
in France, is discussing the mystery of the theft of the diamond necklace of the Marquise.

Before them, on the stage, is the beautiful, mysterious woman who was the victim of the robbery.

M. JONQUELLE reviews the theories of the theft. The Marquis had suggested the thief was a woman who arrested and confessed to Jean Lequex. Lequex was sentenced but did not tell where the jewels could be found.

"It was my assistant Foreneau who followed your theories," M. Jonquelle told the Marquis.

Go on With the Story

CHAPTER III

"It now occurred to Foreneau that this robbery had been committed by some one of the hotel thieves of Paris, who were accustomed to enter any building which they were able to get into,
and to search any apartment that they happened to find open," continued M. Jonquelle.

"But the Marquis reminded Fore-
neau that the person committing
this robbery had brought with him
a piece of paper from the basement,
that mere thieves entering on the chance of finding some valuables
would not have taken this precaution."

"This theory pleased Foreneau, and he adopted every excellent suggestion which the Marquis was able to make. But he ventured to wonder from what source the thief had been able to obtain the combination to the safe, since it was known only to Mme. la Marquise."

"The Marquis was again able to indicate a valuable suggestion.
Women, he ventured to suggest, had always the same habits. They did not trust their memories for anything that required an accuracy of numbers. The Marquis would have somewhere this memorandum written down. He suggested that Foreneau make a search of her writing-table."

"To their surprise they found the lock of the drawers of this table
broken, and among some papers hastily turned over, at the back of one of these drawers, a small book with a red leather cover. On the last page, in pencil, was precisely the same memorandum which the Marquis had picked up on the slip of paper under the door—the combination to the safe of the Marquise de Chantelle, and following the four columns of figures.

The problem which now presented itself was to discover what employee in the building could have written this memorandum. Foreneau and the Marquis had before them
the handwriting, with the histories and associates of the valet, the coierge and the older employes
they were familiar, and were convinced that it was not one of these persons, but there were other employes in this apartment, and the problem was how to obtain specimens of their handwriting without incouraging suspicion. In his perplexity Foreneau asked the opinion of the Marquis de Chantelle.

"The Marquis suggested the following clever device: The Service
de la Surete should send an agent to the building pretending to be an official of the government concerned with certain mental tests required in order to register citizens for the electorate. Among other tests, he should require them to write the names of the president of France and that of the premier at the close
of the robbery was not the first time

"MAY I TROUBLE YOU TO PRESENT THEM TO MADAME LA
MARQUISE."

Interrupt the absorption, but he continued to speak.

"And as it happened," he said, "it was the ingenuity of this device
suggested by the Marquis de Chantelle that enabled Foreneau to locate the one who had committed the robery. He found an employe lately taken on by the concierge because he offered to assist in cleaning the building at a lower cost. The agent from the Service de la Surete came to this person in the course of his interview with the employes of the building."

"Monsieur," he said, "I am compelled to ask you to submit to some mental tests, but I will make them brief. Tell me the form of government under which we live and write down for me the name of the president of France and that of the premier who conducted the peace terms in the Great War, and I will give you no further annoyance."

"The man replied that France was a republic and wrote the name of Alexander Millerand. But when he came to write the C in Clemenceau, he hesitated. The agent seized him at once, snapped a pair of handcuffs on him and confronted him with For-neau. He was shown the slip of paper which the Marquis had picked up in his apartment. He was told the details of the crime as he had carried it out, and in his confusion
he confessed."

The Prefect of Police continued to speak, slowly, without a change of accent, as if to himself.

"Monsieur le Marquis will remember the Apache's confession: he had obtained a position in the building and had watched the Marquis' apartment. As it happened the night
of the robbery was not the first time

that the Marquis had left the door
unclosed; a week before, he had left it unclosed in the afternoon. It was then that this man had gone in—taking with him a slip of paper from the basement—broke open the Marquise's desk and searched for the combination, which he finally found and wrote down. The search had required a very long time, and he had not time on this day to open the safe. He had taken the paper with him and waited until this night on which the Marquis had again gone out, leaving the door unwatched.

"Then he had opened the safe and removed the necklace. He thought that in putting the necklace into his pocket he must have pulled the slip of paper out, and by this means it had fallen to the floor where the Marquis had picked it up.

"The man made no defense and waived all legal procedure. He confessed and has been sentenced to a term of imprisonment. But he refused to say what he had done with the necklace."

M. Jonquelle, watching the Marquis, took a box of cigarettes out of his pocket and slipped his thumbnail around the stamp, but he did not open the box. He spoke suddenly to the Marquis de Chantelle; his voice was sharp, clear, and its tones arrested the man's attention.

"Monsieur le Marquis," he said,
"Mme. Zirtzenoff will not be pleased with her bouquet of orchids."

The Marquis turned suddenly on him; his eyes were now contracted with an intense expression.

"You know, monsieur, that I have sent a bouquet of orchids to Mme.
Zirtzenoff?"

"Surely, monsieur," replied the Prefect of Police. "I passed the boy delivering with them when I entered.
They were very lovely, superb, exquisite, the Mottled Butterfly! How aptly adapted is that flower to Monsieur le Marquis!"

The Marquis continued to regard
him.

"And why, monsieur, do you compare me with this variety of orchid?"

"If you will tell me, Monsieur le Marquis," replied the Prefect of Police, "why Jean Lequex refused to say where the necklace was that he had stolen, I will answer your question."

The hauteur in the Marquis' voice
was now distinctly audible.

"Monsieur," he said, "it was you who promised to tell me that."

"And I shall tell you," replied Jonquelle. "Jean Lequex refused to say where the necklace was for the very good reason that he did not know where it was."

M. Jonquelle looked the Marquis steadily in the face.

The agent of the Surete neglected to mention to monsieur an item or two of their discoveries: the writing on the slip of paper had been made with the left hand; and the concierge, as it happened, seeing the Marquis Chantelle go out leaving his door ajar, closed it.

"Ah, monsieur, we have been engaged in a bit of comedy. Pardon us if we have deceived you. . . . It was I who conducted the investigation of your affair, disguised as Foreneau; and it was the agent For-neau disguised as Jean Lequex who confessed to your robbery and took a mock sentence of imprisonment
under an arrangement with the court. . . . We did not find, then,
the thief who opened the safe to your apartment."

The Marquis regarded the Prefect
of Police with an amazed expression, his lips parted, his eyes wide.

"Then, monsieur," he stammered,
"you have discovered neither the thief nor the necklace."

"Ah, yes," replied M. Jonquelle in the modulated voice of one who bids another adieu. "We have discovered both."

He took a mass of jewels out of his waistcoat pocket and handed them to the Marquis.

"I found these in the bouquet of orchids which you were sending to Mme. Zirtzenoff. May I trouble you to present them to Madame la Marquise when she shall return from America tomorrow?"

"The Man With Steel Fingers," another thrilling adventure of M. Jonquelle, will begin in our next issue.

SCORNING WIFE, JOHN TURNS TO MYRA

By Zoe Beckley

BEGIN HERE TODAY

In a burst of fury,
JOHN BARRETT, wealthy husband and father, declares he is about to leave for good his wife, ANITA, and their high school student
children,
JOHN Junior and ALICE. As Barrett makes this announcement, his wife refers sarcastically to his "unspeakable friend," MYRA DEAN.

GO ON WITH THE STORY

The name of Myra Dean on his wife's lips with "unspeakable" before it, shook Barrett to the depths.
"Unspeakable!" he echoed, stammering with fury. "You don't mean to—drag her in—not this way—it's why, how dare you?"

She smiled at him, her lips twisted
with detestation.

"I'm sorry to—hurt you so badly.
Why should you mind? It's only your —your wife who says it. But I suppose it does hurt a man to have the bitter truth told him about a woman who is dearer than—than his own
children."

He came so near her that she shrank away in distaste.

"Anita, in his tone was terrifyingly
low. "If a man had dared to say that of Myra, I'd cram the words back into his throat with my two hands!"

"I have no doubt of your passion,
whatever else I may doubt."

"But don't you think that because you're a woman I'm going to let you drag Myra Dean's name in the mud?
She's the truest sport in the world.
You've not the slightest conception
how square she is!"

"Naturally." There was half a jeer in Anita's voice. "How do you expect me to understand so paragon a creature? Me—a mere wife—to realize her weakness and splendid is the woman you admire?"

"I tell you she's a friend. Can you understand what that means? A friend, staunch and true. And she's fair to you."

"Really?"

"Yes, in a way you cannot understand. She has nothing to hide. She can look the world square in the face and does it. But because she knows that you don't know it, she has told me I must not see her any more. She!

The woman you call 'unspeakable.'"
His wife, terrified that she would defeat herself by being hurried to the door. But fury saved her. She wheeled.

"Go to her." Anita held her self-control by sternest effort.

"Go to her. Out of my sight. I can stand no more. Go tell her to take you and keep you. Look the world in the face together. Anyhow —anywhere so long as I and my children cannot see her face—or yours."

Barrett was at the door before she could reach it.

"That shall be as you wish—my going. It's done. But if I go to her and I must—it will be only because I beg the honor. We are clear on that,
I hope."

Six Atlanta men got the idea that

So they joined to purchase a boat in

William A. Stone, superintendent of Atlanta's public schools, was author of the idea. He placed it before Asa G. Candler, Jr., son of the Coca Cola king; Harry P. Hearnshaw, Linsey Hopkins, Cator Wolford and Harold Hirsch, all millionaires. They were enthusiastic.

"I'll buy the boat," said Candler,
and thereupon produced his check for $150,000.

HAMPDEN SIDNEY TO PLAY SPIDERS NEXT SATURDAY

HAMPDEN-SIDNEY, Va., Nov. 14.—"On to Richmond" is the war cry of the Tigers. From every part of the campus at all times during the day and night, one can always pick up that echo. Probably the "Hill" has never been so stirred over an athletic contest of any sort before as it is over the Tiger-Spider battle in Richmond Saturday. The old bell that has called presidents, governors, senators, congressmen and an assortment of men from every other conceivable walk of life to gather around "alma mater." "Pop" meetings and other enthusiastic meetings are numerous. The old "Tiger spirit" is everywhere.

Monday afternoon saw the Tiger team at work until darkness forced the warriors indoors to a blackboard drill. Tuesday and Wednesday will probably spell a-c-r-i-m-m-a-s-e, while Thursday and Friday will be given over to tight routine work. When the climax of the football season will be reached so far as Tiger supporters are concerned, for the Tiger-Spider battle has always meant the largest pebble on any Hampden-Sidney schedule. This time not only the team will leave school, but an athletic holiday will be declared and students, instructors and negro servants will all strike out for Richmond to back the team up.

W. & L. PREPARES FOR BLACKSBURG

LEXINGTON, Va., Nov. 14.—With their squad somewhat recovered from their poor condition of the past two weeks the Generals are preparing for their annual affair with Blacksburg on Saturday. By hard practice every afternoon Monday was a rest day from their struggle with Centre but since then stiff workouts have been their program.

Monk Mattox did not play in the Centre game at all but he saved himself for the V. P. I. game. Arbogast played only a small part of the game and Tom Bemis was also kept out of the game. Eddie Cameron played the best game of any Blue and White man on the field and he was at his best throughout the game. The line on powerful plunges only to be knocked out in the final quarter. His condition was not as serious as was at first feared and he will get in the V. P. I. game. On the other hand, Walters has not returned to the varsity yet and it is doubtful if he will get back this year at all. Lewis is out of the game with a bad injury. His eighty yard kick from behind the General goal line was one of the features of the game.

Following the game with the Gobblers in Lynchburg, there will be but one more opponent in the 1922 schedule. Johns Hopkins is to be played in Baltimore. Thanksgiving and the Fighting Generals are primed for a final spurt in the season. It is certain that if they are able to get back into the form they showed early in the season, Virginia Tech will not be able to stop them even with the powerful aggregation that they boast this year.

FRENCH BILLIARD CHAMPION DEFEATS U. S. PLAYER IN SECOND GAME

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Roger Conant, champion of France, defeated Welker Cochran of the United States, 500 to 375 this afternoon in the second match of the international 182 ball line billiard tournament at the Hotel Pennsylvania.

Conant's average was 20.7-17 and his best runs were 141, 103 and 85. Cochran finished with an average of 22.2-17 and high runs of 102, 102 and 78.

Throughout the contest Conant displayed excellent control, once he had gauged the speed of the table. His close ball-to-ball billiards was excellent. At the end he made a merry finish after Cochran had established a slight lead.

I. C. C. orders big movement of freight cars from east to west to relieve car shortage.

VIRGINIA GETS READY FOR THE W. VA. CONTEST

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Nov. 14.—Substitute backfield men on the Virginia eleven are being given special attention by Coach Tom Campbell. The regular backfield with either Foster or McCoy running the team at quarterback Arnold and Maphis in the full back positions and Wilson in full has been rounded into a fast combination. Opponent's injuries are keeping him out of the game.

Paul Walp, substitute back who is playing his first year on the eleven, has shown such form this season that he is easily regarded as the most promising of the less experienced men. This Charlottesville youngster appeared as a shining light first in the Hopkins game. Against Washington and Lee he scored a touchdown by a 40 yard run through the entire General team and his work against Georgia was flashy during the few minutes he given over tight routine work. When in the contest Walp is also a good punter.

Herbert Dean, Mike Hubbard and Hal Little are other backfield men who have shown in the games this year that they have the stuff that good football men are made of. Dean, who probably Hubbard will finish college this year but Walp Little with Gibson, a fast youngster who has yet to get a trial in regular combat and Taylor are expected to be available men next season and the coaches are training them with an eye to the future.

On Lambeth Field all is in a state of preparation on for the West Virginia game Saturday. Practice yesterday was the first stiff drill of the season. Another scrimmage will be held today. Tomorrow afternoon the team must leave for Morgantown but they boys will probably stop over in Fairmont, W. Va., for an afternoon workout Friday and move on to Morgantown the morning of the game.

FIELDING YOST MAY RETIRE AS ACTIVE HEAD COACH

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 14.—Is Fielding Yost to retire as head football coach at the close of the present season? Gossip around the campus is the affirmative.

Yost, who is now director of all athletics at Michigan, has been in charge of football activities as head coach for 22 years.

It is hinted that if all goes well at Michigan this year and at the present time things are flourishing Yost will turn the football worries over to his assistant, George J. Goss, of course Yost will continue to act in an advisory capacity as director of athletics.

Yost has an enviable record as football coach at Michigan. He has led the team to the maize and blue map from a sporting standpoint.

Yost came to Michigan in 1911. He probably won his greatest fame in his first four years at Michigan. His team from 1911 to 1915 were practically invincible. These were the days of the point-a-minute eleven.

Michigan in the first four years of Yost's regime won 55 out of 57 games tying one and losing the other. Minnesota in 1913 played the Wolverines a 5 to 6 tie while Chicago in 1915 beat Michigan 2 to 0, because of a "bone" play on the part of Denney Clarke, which permitted Chicago to score a safety.

During his first five years at Michigan Yost's teams scored 2790 points to the opposition's 43, a most remarkable record, that probably will ever be equaled in collegiate circles.

Thus it is easy to see that Yost has had more than his share of glory and he is willing to step down to step down when he finds someone he believes will fill the bill. Look very much as if he had that man in George J. Goss, his present assistant.

PITCHER IS REINSTATED

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—J. Thompson Prothro, a pitcher, today was reinstated in organized baseball by Baseball Commissioner Landis. He now goes on the eligible list of the Washington Americans. Prothro was placed on the ineligible list when he became a member of the Dyersburg (Tenn.) Baseball Club. He applied for reinstatement a year ago, but was told that he would have to cease playing with Dyersburg for a year. He followed instructions and was reinstated today.

CLANTON IS RELEASED

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 14.—The release of Eulal Clanton, a first baseman, to the New Orleans club of the Southern Association was announced tonight by the Cleveland Baseball Club. Clanton came to the Indians last September from the Muskogee club of the Southwestern League.

Exciting Moments In Harvard-Princeton Game

TWO PLAYERS DROPPED FROM FURMAN TEAM

GREENVILLE, S. C., Nov. 14.—"Jack" Dempsey and Oliver McCurry, first string halfbacks on the Furman University football team today were dismissed from the squad by Head Coach W. L. Laval.

The two men, along with another first team man broke training at Batesburg last Friday night on the eve of the game with the University of South Carolina which Furman lost 27 to 7.

The names of the third member of the squad accused of breaking training rules was not disclosed, the coach saying the man would be allowed to remain on the squad on probation but would not be awarded his varsity letter.

Dismissal of Dempsey and McCurry reduced the Furman squad to less than two elevens. The two men are regarded as among the most valuable players in school. McCurry being especially highly regarded. McCurry was one of the individual stars of the South Carolina-Furman game.

HOPPE DEFEATS BELGIAN CHAMP

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Willie Hoppe gave one of his most impressive exhibitions with the cue and mallets when he engaged in defeating Edouard Horenar, the Belgian champion in tonight's match. It was the first appearance of the detroned champion in the international 182 ball line billiard championship tournament and it was marked by brilliant and sensational play as he outplayed the Belgian by the score of 500 points to 177.

Hoppe maintained formation for his compilations throughout the contest. Much of his manipulation of the cue was of the truest type. While not entirely free and fluent of stroke, for there was a propensity to fiddle on occasions and especially when employment of english angles and speed so completely mastered Hoppe's cue that he left him hopelessly trailing after the early innings. Hoppe's average was 55.5-19, the best of the tournament so far and his high runs 134, 99, and 87. Horenar's did not employ his famous mallet with the usual skill. His average was 19.6-19 and his best runs were 10, 62 and 25.

FORMER CHICAGO MANAGER MAY TRY UMPIRING

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 14.—Clarence Rowland, former manager of the Chicago White Sox, may be a member of the American League staff of umpires next year.

This will come as a surprise to the ball players. Rowland, a minor leaguer, made things hum for the umpires but when he hit the majors the officials slowed him up a trifle.

This position has been tendered to Rowland. If he wants to take a whiff at the umpiring game President Johnson is willing to give him the chance.

President Comiskey surprised the baseball world in 1915 when he announced Clarence Rowland as manager of the Chicago White Sox. Rowland was practically unknown in the major league circles. He came to the Sox from Peoria, where he had been a successful minor league leader.

In 1917 Rowland achieved the ambition of every major league manager, winning a pennant in the American League and then capturing the world series. He met with only fair success in 1918, serving his connection with the club at the close of the season.

Since then Rowland has handled several minor league clubs, among them being the Milwaukee and Columbus teams of the American Association.

Rowland was with Columbus last year, about a few agents. These he gets a managerial job that appeals to him he will probably take a whiff at the umpire game.

Dr. S. E. Hughes is at Chicago for the next several weeks where he is following an advanced course in surgery.

AMERICAN PUGILISTS ARE STRANDED IN HAVANA

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—A number of American pugilists are stranded in Havana without funds, because of inability to collect their share of fight purses, according to Joe Selmer, New Jersey bantamweight boxer who returned today from the Cuban capital. Selmer charged that the Havana Boxing Commission had taken no steps to see that the Americans were reimbursed.

Selmer was accompanied by Frankie Genaro, of New York former Olympic flyweight champion, who was unable to box the Cuban flyweight title holder Valdez because of the latter's illness. Selmer defeated Louis Sardenz, Cuban bantamweight champion, in an eight-round bout at Havana.

"RALEIGH" ACT LOSES YOUTH HIS OVERCOAT

HAMMONTON, N. J., Nov. 14.—The "Su Water Raleigh" role played by a young Philadelphia here during a religious celebration has blasted his ideas of chivalry. He lost his coat to a young woman injured by the explosion of some fireworks. Now the coat is missing together with some money and a railroad ticket home. He has asked the committee in charge of the celebration to make it good. The matter is now before the town council.

O'ROURKE SIGNED UP

AUGUSTA, Ga., Nov. 14.—J. Patsy O'Rourke, has been signed to manage the Augusta Baseball Club of the South Atlantic Association, according to an announcement by club officials. Six new players also have been signed for the 1923 season. This is the second managerial post of O'Rourke in the league, he having piloted the Greenville S. C. club in 1920.

MEDICINES INTOXICATING

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 14.—Proprietary medicines with a high alcoholic content are intoxicating liquors and their sale is a violation of the law regardless of whether the buyer or seller considers the medicines as beverages, the Arkansas Supreme Court held today in affirming the sentence of one year in the penitentiary to Leslie, a Little Rock County druggist.

BOUT IS POSTPONED

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Nov. 14.—The twelve round decision bout scheduled to be held here November 17 between Harry Greb, American light-heavy weight champion and Jimmy Delaney of St. Paul, has been postponed owing to an injury to Delaney's hand. Greb and Delaney will meet here some time in December if it was announced.

TENTATIVE ARRANGEMENTS

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Negotiations are proceeding for a bout between Joe Bonetti, the British heavy-weight champion, and Georges Carpentier, the meeting to take place in London early in 1923. The arrangements are still in a tentative stage, neither the date nor the hall in which the fight will be staged having been decided upon.

ATLANTA SIGNS MOORE

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 14.—Officials of the Atlanta Baseball Club announced today the signing of J. P. Moore, an outfielder who hit 350 for Johnson City in the Appalachian League last year, and Charles Lehman of New Orleans, a semi-professional player, making fifteen men now on the Cracker roster.

GOVERNOR AND STAFF WILL ATTEND GAME

BLACKSBURG, Va., Nov. 14.—It was announced here today that Governor E. Lee Trinkle and his entire staff will attend the Virginia Polytechnic Institute and Virginia Military Institute football game in Roanoke on Thanksgiving.

SOVIET PLAYING WILY POLITICAL GAME SAYS LEADER

BERLIN, Nov. 14.—A leader of the English steel industry said to me a few days ago:

"The Bolsheviks are stupid. For sixteen months the representatives of the Soviet Government have negotiated with me about a contract. When the contract was finally concluded it proved absolutely unfulfillable, so that the Soviet representatives themselves annulled it, under all sorts of pretexts. People who waste their time for sixteen months in order to make a futile and unfulfillable contract must be stupid."

I replied: "The Soviet Government pursues one aim, namely, to gain time. That is the all-shadowing motive in all their economic negotiations with the European powers. European industrialists, such as the captains of the English steel industry, are anxious to do business with the Soviet Government on the basis of those economic negotiations. If the Soviet Government negotiates with the English steel industry about contracts that are in reality impracticable it gains time. And the English steel industrialists do not get the business."

The Soviet Government, therefore, has achieved what it wanted—and the English steel industrialists have failed. Consequently it is not the Soviet Government that is stupid but the English steel industrialists."

The Soviet Government of Moscow which is holding the unfortunate Russian people in leash solely by military force and terror, has no real interest whatever in the actual reconstruction of Russia. On the contrary, only the misery and exhaustion of the Russian people secure to the Moscow usurpers the maintenance of their domination as Russians become slaves.

If the Russian people had a chance to recover the possibility is that the Soviet Government would be toppled and the Moscow chieftains know full well that in that case every one of them would be torn to pieces by the vengeance of the people.

The Soviet Government has ruined Russia. It has just as much interest in this tremendous realm remains in their power the gigantic Russian productive and receptive area is eliminated from European business and economics. Since Russia before the war furnished a great portion of the raw materials of Central and Western Europe needed for its industrial workers, it follows that the elimination of the Russian exports necessarily results in increasing need in Europe. This need becomes the more urgent the longer Russia is eliminated from the world's markets.

Furthermore, the more this need grows the more susceptible will the peoples of Central and Western Europe become to Bolshevistic propaganda. Besides the Soviet Government can send its agents masked as commercial representatives under diplomatic protection into the European countries in order to stir the working masses to join the Bolshevistic revolution.

All this increases the prospects of a victory for the Moscow usurpers over the whole of Europe. However, the Soviets must grind all the great nations of Europe under their heels within the immediate future. If they do not succeed in doing this, then the growing and common sense will force the great European nations to overthrow the Soviet Government by force of arms from outside in order to re-establish the Russian markets.

All these facts make it very important for the Moscow Government to gain time under any sort of pretexts. It is noteworthy that while the English capitalists are negotiating with the Soviet Government about the resumption of industrial relations Moscow found the opportunity and the leisure to stir up the Islamic peoples against England to such an extent as to endanger the British possessions in Egypt, Mesopotamia and India.

I have been long since closely posted on the true intentions of the Soviet Government, and I have consequently refused to enter into any negotiations with its representatives. A diplomatic emissary of the Soviet Government once sent word to me asking for a conference about the political situation in Europe. My answer was that there was no sense in a conference between a gentleman and a gang of criminals.

Representatives of the Soviet Government also have endeavored to enter into business negotiations with my Industrial concerns with a view to securing shipments of clothing material to Russia.

My reply was that I regarded all Bolshevistic business as swindle. I added that even if it were not swindle I, as a respectable business man, would do no business with robbers and thieves.

Finally, I was not disposed to send cloth to Russia, which probably would be used to clothe the Red Army and then see the day when the Red Army would invade Germany and its soldiers cut my throat.

ISMET SAYS TURKS WANT NATIONAL RIGHTS

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, Nov. 14.—Turkey demands merely that it be dealt with as a Government founded as other responsible Governments, are, and that it be allowed to enjoy the same rights in its international relations. This, in brief, was the statement made today to the representatives of the world's press by General Ismet Pasha, head of the Turkish Nationalists in the eyes of the Western World. The Turks, Ismet also took occasion to deny the reported wholesale atrocities against the Greek, and said there had been an organized effort to study the Turkish Nationalists in the eyes of the Western World. The Turks, he said, protested women and children in their movement against Smyrna and avoided loss of life as far as possible during their operations.

He painted a black picture of the waste and destruction that surrounded the Turkish War, and maintained that, after signing the Treaty of Sevres, they tried to restore their country by pacific means and accepted the allies' terms in good faith. The Greeks, however, he declared, did not abide by the terms, and forced Turkey into a war which developed into a great disaster for the Greeks.

Turkey, he said, sent Ministers to London and attempted to gain a hearing before she began the offensive that resulted so disastrously for Greece, and did everything within her power to prevent war.

Ismet was in a wretched state. He added: "Our own organization is all gone, we had to build anew and make a new life for Turkey. The national spirit is high, is surmounted the efforts of the Sultan to prevent independence and progress in Turkey and made military opposition to the foreign aggression possible."

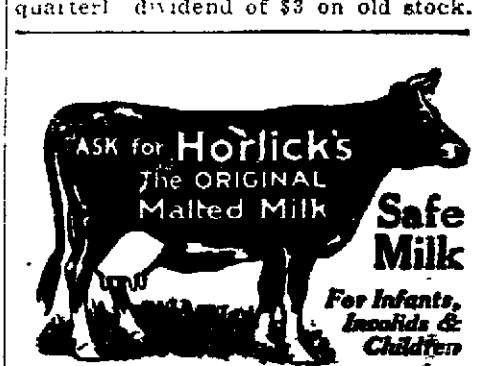

Ismet spoke in halting French at this, his first newspaper conference since his arrival. He was assisted by Dr. Nazim Bey, the second member of the delegation, and Rikid Sefted Bey, the secretary, who supplied French words when the General hesitated and frequently translated questions into Turkish. Ismet is extremely deaf, and had considered difficulty in hearing his questioners.

"HORSESHOE KID" HAS EVERYTHING NAME INDICATES

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 14.—Clarence Thomas, a gentleman of dark hue, otherwise known as the "Horseshoe Kid," picks up with him just what it takes to gain such a title.

On trial in Federal Court on a charge of violating the Harrison anti-narcotic law, Thomas was discharged because the police failed to place identification marks on the evidence. A few days later Lady Luck was on hand again and a charge against Thomas of possessing drugs was dismissed because two witnesses had died.

Electric current sales show no fall off and building permits issued in the last week provide for the expenditure of $1,900,000.

CONTINUED WARM WEATHER CUTS DOWN ON SALES

BY H. B. LAUFMAN
 PITTSBURGH, November 14.—Continued absence of cold weather has held down the sale of winter goods in this section to a certain extent, but dealers are satisfied with the turnover under existing conditions. Shoes and wearing apparel are in improved demand.

Iron and steel production is picking up. The output of the plants in this immediate district is above 75 per cent and with a narrowing range of prices, buyers are placing their orders with more confidence. Steel makers look for a steady market with a satisfactory volume of business. Some of the largest plants in the district are on a capacity basis. The supply of railroad cars still is below requirements.

HONEY WEEK IN FAR WESTERN COMMONWEALTH
 PORTLAND, Ore., November 14.—This is honey week in Oregon. There have been ample supplies of honey produced this season for all requirements, although claim is made that some sections have been cleaned up by speculators. So far, however, sales generally have been sluggish. The chief reason for this is that producers asked prohibitive figures at the opening of the season. This had a tendency to curtail consumption.

Prices now range from $4 to $4.50 a case. Both extracted honey and comb stock have shown an improvement in the last few days.

IMPORTANT TOWN STRICKEN

That part of Chile shaken by the earthquake of Friday night Nov. 10, extends, approximately from the Tropic of Capricorn to the south about 1200 miles. The most northerly town of any consequence mentioned in dispatches is the important port of Antofagasta (shown at right). The most southerly are Victoria and Valdivia, below the large south Chilean town of Concepcion. Between these points, cables speak of Caldera, Guasco (Chancay), Copapo, Valenar, Coquimbo and Talcahuano as having suffered. Coquimbo (shown above) is a port of considerable importance. Talcahuano is the port of Concepcion. The others, though centers and most of them, ports of some South American note, have never figured largely in world news. With the exception of Victoria, all are on or near the coast, which suggests that the tidal wave must have been as much or more responsible than the earthquake for the enormous damage done. Valparaiso, the greatest of Chilean coast towns and the outlet for Santiago, the capital, is not referred to as having suffered on this occasion, though a few years ago it was nearly wrecked, with enormous loss of life, by a quake and tidal wave. Concepcion, next in importance to Valparaiso, appears also to have escaped. The Andean range which covers practically the whole of Chile, except for a narrow strip of coast and a few valleys, is one of the world's most geological formations. Earthquakes, especially in about the latitude of Santiago and to the southward, are of very frequent occurrence, though the territory in which many of them are felt is so little settled that they are never reported. The Chilean ports for the most part are without harbor facilities and ships are compelled to anchor in exposed situations off the coast, so that they are practically unprotected from heavy storms and tidal waves. With storms threatening discreet mariners always put promptly to sea but when caught suddenly in tidal waves the damage done to them is invariably great.

DEPOSITS DECREASE
IN BANK OF JAPAN

(By The Associated Press.)
TOKIO, Nov. 14.—Reports of the banks of Japan for the first half of the current year just ended to the financial department, show that deposits decreased by 74,000,000 yen, compared with last year, while loans were lower by 33,000,000 yen. Those banks which show increases are charged with having broken the interest rate agreements but their increased deposits are also believed to be due to the economic depression and failure of smaller concerns.

Poison Plot or Coincidence Chain?

MRS. NELLIE STURMER KOULIK

By ROY J. GIBBONS.

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—Will Chicago yield at notorious a case of systematic murders that of the recently autopsied "Bluebeard" Landru in Paris or of Mrs. Belle Guinness, whose Indiana "murder" farm startled the country 20 years ago?

Detectives today are weaving a web of evidence around two women whose trial, they declare, will equal in sensational revelations those which stirred up interest throughout the world.

The women around whom this world-wide notoriety may hinge, are Mrs. Tillie Klimek and her neighbor, Mrs. Nellie Sturmer Koulik. Both are being held by the police on a formal charge of murder, while authorities are studying the exhumed bodies of 20 people—adults and infants—for traces of arsenic poisoning.

Out of these chemical researches, coupled with criminal investigations, may arise a story of one of the most audacious poison plots in the history of criminology. Or—and this is a possibility which the police admit—this is the whole investigation may reveal nothing more than a series of most unusual coincidences.

Bodies of former husbands of these women have been disinterred and examined. And in each case, say the police in charge of the investigation, chemicals have found traces of arsenic poisoning. These discoveries have led to inquiries into the deaths of Mrs. Klimek's first three husbands, a former suitor, three cousins of her children, besides twin children, grandchildren and a former husband of Mrs. Koulik.

The whole case produces a maze of entangling revelations concerning the lives of these two women. Corner Peter M. Hoffman and the detectives who are following the mysterious trail night and day, declare the story they are unraveling rivals anything in Poe's most fanciful stories of death.

What first directed suspicion to the women was the illness of Mrs.

MRS. TILLIE KLIMEK

Klimek's fourth husband. He is in a local hospital suffering from what the attending physicians term "arsenic administration over a prolonged period."

Police arrested Mrs. Klimek. From her, they say, they obtained a partial confession in which Mrs. Klimek's name was mentioned. This led to Mrs. Koulik's arrest.

Records show that Mrs. Klimek, who is 45, has had 15 children in the past 30 years. Of these 15 are dead. She gave birth to twins in 1917, when she was married to Wojcik Sturmer. Sturmer refused to acknowledge paternity of the twins, police say their investigations have shown. A short time later both children died at an interval of a month apart.

Next year Sturmer died. His body now has been exhumed and examined. It had in it "sufficient arsenic to kill a dozen men," according to Dr. William D. McNally, who made the examination.

Grandchildren Examined.
From this point the avenue of death leads investigators to the graves of Mrs. Koulik's grandchildren, offspring of her daughter, Mrs. Clement Spera. Three of the children lie in the same cemetery, and their fathers asked police to examine their bodies.

As for Mrs. Klimek, police claim definite evidence against her. They cite the case of John Gusevski, a former suitor, who died mysteriously after he had refused to marry her. They also say they have evidence of quarrels between Mrs. Klimek and relatives who later died under strange circumstances.

These relatives are being examined. Yet all this collection of incriminating evidence fails to perturb the women in the case. Both Mrs. Klimek and her cell-mate, Mrs. Koulik, remain quiet about the whole affair.

Whether they are merely the victims of a series of mysterious events, or the center of a huge poison plot, no one connected with the affair will venture to deduce from the facts so far revealed.

Germany Must Get Grain For
Her Population

PARIS, Nov. 14.—(By The Associated Press.)—Germany must find some way of getting $99,000,000,000 marks worth of grain to feed her people during the next year, the reparations commission learned in its investigation at Berlin.

This amount is about double the present total of paper money in circulation in Germany. Purchase of the grain is deemed impossible, except through speedy financial rehabilitation of the country for food credits from abroad. It seems to be generally taken for granted that both the credits and the food would have to come from America.

The $99,000,000,000 represents Germany's import requirements for the next twelve months of 2,000,000 tons of grain, the minimum amount thought necessary to prevent starvation. Any attempt to buy this grain in a foreign market would, in the opinion of experts, cause a complete collapse of the mark with the serious reaction in the exchanges of the other European countries.

All the allied nations, including France, realize the seriousness of the situation in Germany but no European country is able to export the needed grain because of domestic shortages. There is a possibility the experts say, that some grain may be had from Russia but America is expected to supply virtually all the German needs.

This food question may serve to hasten an agreement among the allies concerning Germany's reparations, although up to the present there has been no indication that Premier Poincaré has changed his mind about the necessity of exacting further reparation payments as a means of compelling the Reich to meet its indemnity payments.

The reparations problem is now in suspense until after the British elections.

WOMAN HELD FOR FRAUD

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Mrs. Mira Goldstein, 34, who claims relationship with the late President Cleveland and her husband, Simon, 38, N. Y. retired, was held in $10,000 bail for extradition, November 15, on a charge of fraud.

The woman, who is a hotel in Greenwich Village, was charged with having obtained $10,000 from the estate of Mrs. R. H. Thompson, who said she and her husband gave the woman $4,000 for the purchase of stock in the late President's estate.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—A bill proposed by the state senate to prohibit the sale of liquor in the city of New York, was introduced today in the assembly.

Pierce Oil Case
Began Yesterday

RICHMOND, VA., Nov. 14.—Common stockholders of the Pierce Oil Corporation began the introduction of testimony late today in their fight in Chancery Court to prevent the election of a new board of directors by the preferred stockholders, who it is charged, have joined in a conspiracy to gain control of the concern.

The fight among stockholders of the corporation started several weeks ago when a number of preferred stockholders of New York asked the local court to declare the recent election of directors null and void on the ground that quarterly dividends had gone by default. Such an election, if ordered, would result in the election of a board by the preferred stockholders since common stockholders would be barred from participation.

In the answer to the original petition, the board of directors and common stockholders admit the default of four dividends but charge the responsibility to the preferred stockholders, who, it is alleged, entered into a conspiracy to embarrass the corporation. It is upon this ground that the petition for a new election is being contested.

Attorneys said today that the taking of testimony probably will consume the remainder of the week. Judge Alton R. Parker, of New York, appeared as counsel for the corporation and its directors.

Two maidens and their two mothers;
Two sisters and their two brothers.

There were only six persons in the family. Two widows each had one child. Each widow married the son of the other. Each couple had a daughter. Thus all the statements of the riddle were correct, the brothers were stepbrothers of the sisters.

Stage Star Has Breakdown

FRANK BACON

Frank Bacon, shown here, co-author and star of the play, "Lightnin'", has had to abandon his part until after his recovery from a nervous breakdown.

Bacon is 58 years old and is one of the outstanding characters of Broadway. "Lightnin'", his present play, has been considered his greatest success. He wrote it in collaboration with Winchell Smith and showed it for the first time in August of 1918. For the last four years he has been playing the lead in the play. After his recovery, friends say, he expects to resume the role.

Besides this play, Bacon has appeared in several other successes, among them, "Aladdin", "Paddyhead Wilson", "The Fortune Hunter" and "The Cinderella Man."

HUMORIST FINDS
LIFE "TOO FUNNY!"
KILLS HIMSELF

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Lying against the mossy bank of a secluded ravine in the Bronx, a lighted cigarette dangling from his smiling lips, the lifeless body of Arthur Crawford, actor, humorist, "the man of a wealth of funny ideas," was found today, a bullet wound in the heart. A revolver lay at his side.

The report of the shot, heard by Thomas Lillie, a passer-by, attracted him to the ravine. He summoned policemen and in Crawford's pocket they found a letter, addressed to his son, an instructor in physical education at Columbia University and a will. The letter contained a key to a safety deposit vault and informed the son he would find $8,000 in the Bank of Montreal.

Born fifty-five years ago in Montreal, Crawford graduated from Lincoln College at Sorrel, Quebec, and from the Royal Military College at Kingston, Ontario. He began his career in 1912 in the drama "Darnmore" and later appeared in other stage productions. He left the stage in 1926 to write paragraphs, jokes and anecdotes for humorous publications.

He was widely known as "A. C." He had furnished artists with ideas for many of their best pieces, and behind the artist's name on such drawings after a plus sign, appeared his initials.
